Detailed Action

Claims 29-38 are pending in this Office Action.

Claims 29 and 34 are amended.

Claims 1-28 remain cancelled.

Specification

Applicant's amendment to the specification 1/26/06 has been entered.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed in the amendment filed 1/26/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The reasons are set forth below.

Applicant's invention as claimed:

Claims 29-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 6,199,113 by Alegre et al.

Regarding claim 29, a system for authenticating a user of network (Alegre: col. 4, lines 1-7), comprising:

a network-connected verification server for performing the authentication (Alegre: col. 4, lines 31-42; Fig. 2, tag 226); and a network-connected appliance operable by the user for sending a request for authentication (Alegre: col. 4, lines 8-10; Fig. 2, tag 110);

wherein the request for authentication comprises a network destination, specified by the user, for at least one site requiring log-in by the user (Alegre: col. 5, lines 21-27), and a username-password pair for the user (Alegre: col. 4, lines 25-31), and the server, in response to the request causes navigation to the at least one site and a login attempt with the usernamepassword pair, successful login comprising authentication (Alegre: col. 5, lines 41-47; col. 7, lines 8-13).

Regarding claim 30, the system of claim 29, wherein the network is the Internet network (Alegre: col. 4, lines 17-23).

Regarding claim 31, the system of claim 30, wherein the verification server is a first server (Alegre: col. 4, lines 31; authentication server), and the request is sent from the appliance to a second server (Alegre: col. 4, lines 20-23; user sends request to host), which forwards at least a portion of the request to the first server (Alegre: col. 4, lines 25-31), and the first server returns and indication of verification after causing the navigation and log-in attempt (Alegre: col. 5, lines 41-47; col. 7, lines 8-13).

Regarding claim 32, the system of claim 29, wherein all or a portion of the request is compared against stored user profile data for verification purposes (Alegre: col. 4, lines 31-37).

Regarding claim 33, the system of claim 30, wherein the request comprises a plurality of site and username-password pairs for the sites, and authentication is a number based on log-in results (Alegre: col. 4, lines 25-42).

Regarding claim 34, a method for authenticating a user of a network (Alegre: col. 4, lines 1-7), comprising the steps of:

- (a) accepting by a server a network destination and a username-password pair, specified by the user, as an authentication request from the user (Alegre: col. 4, lines 25-31);
- (b) causing, by the server, navigation to the at least one site and a login attempt with the username-password pair (Alegre: col. 7, lines 8-13); and
- (c) reporting an indication of authenticity according to success or failure of the login attempt (Alegre: col. 6, lines 13-22).

Art Unit: 2155

Regarding claim 35, the method of claim 34, wherein the network is the Internet network (Alegre: col. 4, lines 17-23).

Regarding claim 36, the method of claim 34 wherein the server is a first server (Alegre: col. 4, lines 31; authentication server), and the request is sent from the appliance to a second server (Alegre: col. 4, lines 20-23; user sends request to host), which forwards at least a portion of the request to the first server (Alegre: col. 4, lines 25-31), and the first server returns and indication of authenticity after causing the navigation and log-in attempt (Alegre: col. 5, lines 41-47; col. 7, lines 8-13).

Regarding claim 37, the method of claim 34 wherein all or a portion of the request is compared against stored user profile data for verification purposes (Alegre: col. 4, lines 31-37).

Regarding claim 38, the method of claim 34, wherein the request comprises a plurality of sites and username-password pairs for the sites, and authentication is a number based on log-in results (Alegre: col. 4, lines 25-42).

REMARKS

Applicant has amended independent claims 29 and 34 to include a detail the request for authentication comprises a network destination, specified by the user.

The Applicant Argues:

the amended feature is not taught by Allegre because the login page destination is not provided by the user.

In response, the examiner_respectfully submits:

The Allegre reference does teach the claimed limitation. Col. 5, lines 21-27 also cited in applicant's remarks teaches when the user attempts to access a trusted network, the browser sends a request with URL over the Internet and waits for authentication to occur. The examiner interprets 'the request for authentication comprising a network destination, specified by the user, is the request from the browser that sends URL for access to the trusted resource. The user specifies this destination to access the resource.

Art Unit: 2155

Col. 5, lines 59-65 teaches a request for access can contain the required authentication information in the request (UID and PWD). This request for authentication and access to the user specified destination is taught. The Allegre reference teaches redirection to the log-in page if 1) there is no cookie with a stored session key or 2) No UID or PWD data with the request or 3) The UID and PWD are not authenticated. The at least one site requiring log-in by the user is the protected resource specified in the URL. Authentication occurs with the request when login information is submitted with the request and forwarded to the login process.

Applicant's argues the 'request for authentication' is a request for a 'login page' and that the user does not know the destination when requesting authentication because the log-in page is unknown and invisible to the user in Allegre. The examiner has fully considered this argument but views a request for authentication as a request for just that: access, authentication, and verification. A request to log in occurs with the request. Applicant is reading into the broad diction of claims that the request for authentication is a request for a specific network destination log in page.

The user sending the request expects to go through authentication as evidence by the sending of the username and password identification information with the request.
